

Historic Landmark Gets An Unbridled Restoration.

May 3, 2016 — Denver, Colorado — This month, the Grant Street Mansion, originally the home of 19th century Denver business icon Dennis Sheedy, will be owner-occupied for the first time in nearly 100 years when Unbridled Solutions, LLC, moves its headquarters to the historic Capitol Hill address.

The Denver-based event management, production, and creative agency purchased the Historic Landmark at the end of 2014 to provide more space for its growing family of businesses.* With 15 years in the industry, creating solutions for corporate meetings, events, and incentives around the world, the decision to restore the Grant Street Mansion connects with the pioneering spirit of a company looking for ways to create generative environments and work cultures.

To oversee the task of preserving the integrity of the Mansion, while also preparing it for new purposes and current needs, Unbridled Solutions president, Stan Bullis, worked with Denver architects Humphries Poli who define restoration as “creating a space that appreciates, honors, and highlights its history while making it relevant to the next 100 years.”

Every effort was made to retain the home’s original feel and function. All updates to the 1892 structure reflect the same attention to detail, high standards of craftsmanship, and the significance of artistic architectural expression valued by the Mansion’s original creator, Dennis Sheedy. “This historic landmark, with its rich connection to the past and eye toward the future, presents a tangible legacy and extension of our already strong culture. We certainly want people to come experience this space,” said Stan Bullis.

The Unbridled companies are thrilled to be a part of the rich heritage of a neighborhood that honors its history, preserves its architectural treasures, and appreciates the creative workmanship that extends the relevance of distinguished landmarks for future generations.
